RAILROAD MAN SHOT TO DEATH AT WHITESBURG

Ed Stratton, Conductor On "Short Dog," is instantly killed in Hotel By Morgan Collier, Who Escapes in Automobile

Ed Stratton, 41 years old, was shot and instantly killed by Morgan Collier, 32, Sunday night at 6:40 while seated in the Day Hotel of this city. Stratton was a conductor on the "Short Dog" passenger train of the L. & N. railroad, and had been conductor on the local train between McRoberts and Hazard since that train was put on. Collier was a fireman of the L. & N. but not on the same train.

A few minutes before the shooting took place, Collier walked into the hotel and talked for a short time with Stratton and two women who were seated with him at a table, Mrs. Bertha Collier, former wife of Collier, and Mrs. Lou Day, her sister. What was said is not known.

Collier walked out of the hotel, asked Curtis Lewis to take him up the road a short distance in the latter's automobile. Lewis refused, and Collier took the automobile by force. Then he drove it in front of the hotel, left the engine running, got out, walked into the hotel, fired five shots into Stratton as the latter still sat at the table with the two women, walked out of the hotel, jumped into the car and sped away.

One bullet took effect in Stratton's left cheek, coming out behind his ear; another entered just over his heart; another, in his right side, piercing his lung; another, in his neck; and the fifth, in his hip, apparently as the man fell from the chair. All of the bullets passed through the body except the one which entered his hip.

Several people were eating in the hotel at the time of the shooting. Miss Margaret Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. W. Collins, received a slight scalp wound from one of the stray bullets. Mrs. Nannie Day, proprietor of the hotel, screamed as Collier turned to leave the room. He told her that he was not going to hurt her. These were the only words he spoke, so far as anybody can recall, while he was in the room the second time.

Mr. Lewis's car was found a few minutes after the shooting, by the side of the road at the mouth of Pert creek. It had not been damaged. Collier is supposed to have taken to the hills there. He has not been found by officers.

Stratton did not speak after the first shot was fired, but he did try to rise from the chair, witnesses say. When he fell in the floor, a revolver lay by his side. Either of the four of the shots would have caused death, it is said.

Collier is a member of one of the most prominent families of this county. He had been divorced only a short time from one of the women accompanying Strat-

WIFE OF FORMER SHERIFF DIES

Mrs. James H. Combs, 42, died suddenly Saturday evening, June 23, at her home at Crown, Ky. She had been in ill health for some time, but was able to go about the duties of the home.

Death was caused by paralysis of the heart, and came while no one was near her. Her husband found her dead in bed, several minutes after her life had passed.

Mrs. Combs was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Frazier of Rockhouse. Her mother was a sister to John P. Back. She is survived by her husband and seven children, one of whom is married to Willie Fields and lives in Whitesburg.

The body was buried on Smooth creek Monday. Hester Chapter No. 54, O. E. S., conducted the funeral. R. N. Swisher, funeral director at Whitesburg, had charge of preparing the body for burial.

MILLER—TOLAND

Mr. John H. Miller and Miss Lillian Toland were married in Washington, D. C., June 18. Friends here will remember Miss Toland for the splendid work she did at the Presbyterian Church before the arrival of Rev. C. V. Caudill as pastor, and for her pleasing personality. The newlyweds will be at home at Warrenton, Va., after June 25.

POWERFUL LOAD

A truck containing a great number cases of dynamite, overturned on the Pine Mountain road at Cowan ridge last week. The jar of the wreck was not sufficient to set off the charge, or there probably would not be any Cowan ridge now. The truck belonged to the Wright Construction company. Joe Pendleton aided in getting one of the men from under the wrecks. Nobody was seriously hurt.

VISIT GEORGIA

Maj. John A. Webb has returned from a sightseeing trip to Georgia. Edgar Craft, T. C. Adams of Blackey, and Johnny Craft, Jr., went with him in his new Buick. The entire trip was made on a pint of water for the car. This was put in the radiator when they reached Covington, Ga.

Mrs. French Hawk left last Wednesday for Hyden, Ky., to be the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lewis, Sr., for 10 days. While there she will attend the dedication of the Frontier Nursing Service.

J. G. Gault returned from a business trip to Hazard.

Ruth Hart returned from Virginia, where she visited a week.

Ballard Salyer is in Lexington having his arm treated for inflammatory rheumatism.

Mrs. Tandy Combs and little son Sam, Jr., from Vico are here the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hart, in the Lewis addition.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fairchild have as their guest this week, Mrs. Jessie May of Ashland, Ky., sister of Mrs. Fairchild.

THREE MEN ESCAPE DEATH IN AUTO WRECK

Charlie Blair, Henry Blair And Riley Moore Take A Five-Hundred-Foot Plunge Down The Face of Pine Mountain

A Chevrolet coupe driven by Henry Blair plunged over the cliff on the Pine Mountain road just below the summer home of Henry Pfening, Jr., Sunday night, carrying with it three men in as wild a ride as ever they took. The other two passengers were Charlie Blair and Riley Moore.

The automobile plunged 500 feet down the mountain. All three men are alive, but badly cut and bruised. Charlie Blair is more seriously injured than the other two men. Henry Blair is not able to leave his bed at the home of his father-in-law, S. P. Combs, but Riley Moore can stir about.

The men were discovered Sunday night by their cries for help. A rescue party went from this city to aid in getting them back up the face of the mountain. They were brought up by aid of a rope. Charlie was suffering so much that Dr. J. M. Bentley went down and gave him a hypodermic before the rescuers brought him up. He was brought to the home of his father-in-law, Judge Kelley Fields, where he was swathed in bandages.

Riley Moore was fortunate enough to be thrown from the automobile after it had turned over three times. The other two men stayed in it longer. The machine was a total wreck. It was lifted Monday and brought to the Fairchild garage.

JULY FOURTH GAME HERE

Local Baseball Team Will Meet Haymond In Double-Header On Holiday

BURDINE HERE SUNDAY

The fast Whitesburg Baseball Team will meet the Haymond in a double-header game on the Whitesburg diamond July 4th. This program has been arranged, so that fans can enjoy their favorite sport at home on this National holiday. Both teams are good. The local boys have the edge on the visitors, but the dope bucket is often up-set in a baseball contest. Better come out and see what happens.

Sunday July 1, the Whitesburg team will play Burdine. This game is also on the home diamond. These two teams are trying hard to discover who is the strongest. Local players believe they are, but they must prove it again to the Burdine outfit. A hot contest is predicted for Sunday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. William Snodgrass of Cynthiana are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of this city.

OUR BIRTHDAY

One hundred fifty two years ago next Wednesday, July 4, this United States of America was born. On that great Fourth the Declaration of Independence was signed. Brave men that day gripped the pen and wrote their names to the document which, if their cause failed, would convict them of treason and send them to the gallows.

Their cause did not fail. Right, as we see it, triumphed; and from a handful of colonies strung along the eastern coast this nation has grown to be the most powerful government in world. There has been nothing like this in the history of nations. Such growth, such power, such wealth—in so short a time—was unknown in the history of the human race.

We Americans are a little prone to boast. Well may we be proud. But in our sober moments we should consider the source of all this marvelous development.

It is somewhat fashionable, in these days of cynicism, to belittle the work of the founders of this nation. So-called self-styled historians have been busy delving into the private life of many of our great national figures, for the purpose of finding their weaknesses.

Such work is a disgrace. Of course these men made mistakes. They were human. But they also did a great work. The soundness of their ideas and theories of government has been demonstrated. Then why not let them rest in peace?

Long live this Nation, and may July 4 ever be remembered.

HUMAN ENGINEERING

Dr. A. W. Fortune, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Lexington, addressed the graduating class of Transylvania College recently upon the subject of "Human Engineering."

Doctor Fortune called attention to the great tasks that the engineers of this day are doing—building sky-scrappers that touch the clouds, digging tunnels that are miles long, swinging great bridges—but he said that human engineering was the most important of all the engineering tasks.

"Human engineering," he said, "means to give proper direction to the race; it means to help men and women to so live that their lives will mean the most to the world. It is of little value to improve the material world unless life is also improved."

Many thinkers over the world are of the opinion that in this age there is too much stress upon material, and not enough upon spiritual, in the realm of human endeavor. The preacher is not alone in this thought.

There seems to be large class of people who are believers in the idea that pleasure is the worthy end of living. This is erroneous. Service is the keynote to a successful and happy life.

The human engineer of Doctor Fortune's conception, must see the goal toward which humanity should move, and his service lies in his work of directing humanity into these channels of service.

A FARM AGENT

Our neighbor, Perry county, is to have a farm agent and home demonstrator. Congratulations! But what is wrong with Letcher county having the same. This county has considerable farm land. This land should be cultivated. There is too much dependence upon the coal industry; consequently, when the market is dull for coal, the county feels the pinch of "hard times."

There is money in a farm wisely handled. A farm agent is a man who has made a special study of farm problems and can help farmers. He is a man who is not a stranger to hard work. He can help the farmers to reap a part of the harvest of money which goes out of this county for groceries.

SKIMMINGS

Most bones of contention are caused by boneheads.

Travel is educational. It teaches us comforts and pleasures of staying at home.

The back-to-nature movement is receiving the full support of women who wear evening dresses.

It must be discouraging to a woman who has worked for a trim, boyish figure to discover that curves are back in style.

Hot times at Houston! But the citizens remind the visitors that this is an exception to the rule in their weather calendar.

It's not always the man with the most brains who wears the biggest hat; it's the man with the biggest head.

Don't let the doctor kid you about worry making folks thin. Think how thin the fat folks would be if this were true!

It may be the truth that married men live longer than bachelors, but it sounds like leap year propaganda.

The Democrats boot the bolters and the Republicans embrace them. And you see who usually wins at the elections.

Hoover's citizenship may be questioned, but Curtis cannot be denied. The blood of Indian chief tains flows in his veins.

At last, one of the Daniel Boone Hotel bachelors got married. No telling how many will follow suit, now that they are started.

Girls should not have any trouble with rejections this leap year, especially since the announcement that married men live, on an average, 12 years longer than bachelors.

The Mingo, W. Va., eye, nose and throat specialist who has solved 8,151 cross-word puzzles should be able to figure to a penny the size of a patient's bank account.

Watt Holbrook may be staggered at the spelling of "charivari," but he certainly can push his pretty bride down Main street in a wheelbarrow to the tune of cowbells, horns, tin cans and cheers.

A woman in Williamson, W. Va., recently brought two pair of trousers with the suit she had purchased for the burial of her husband. We've heard of it, but this is the first instance in which a salesman was that good.

One reader accused the writer of Skimmings of being "down-right pert." She got it backward. We are merely "pert-might down" physically and financially, after that hurried 1000-mile trip back and forth through the different sections of Kentucky.

Somebody suggested that we all last week's issue of The Mountain Eagle the "Honeymoon Number," because of the number of wedding announcements it contained. Probably a sub-head right under that should read: "Open warfare declared."

The Mingo, W. Va., man who drove to town in his car and walked back home because he forgot it does not have the record for absentmindedness. A man at Gamaliel, Ky., lost his 10-year-old cob pipe and found it clenched between his teeth.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Holbrook of Colly were visitors here Friday.

NERVES Went to Pieces

"I suffered a long time, before I tried Cardui," says Mrs. Lillie Pruitt, 130 "E" St., Anderson, S.C.

"I was badly run-down in health. My nerves went to pieces, and I had to go to bed."

"I got so bad off, I could not bear to have anybody walk across the floor of my room. The least little thing upset me. Sometimes I became hysterical. I had bad pains in my back and sides, and my head and limbs would take spells of aching, which almost set me wild."

"One day I saw where a woman, who had a trouble like my own, had been relieved by Cardui. I decided at once to try it. It began to help me from the very first. I took Cardui regularly, for several months, and my improvement was so remarkable my family and friends were delighted."

Try Cardui for your troubles.

CINCINNATI
where the South begins

Cincinnati, known as the northernmost Southern city, and the southernmost Northern city, has had a reawakening. There is a new spirit abroad among her people, not only in greater devotion to their work, but also in the vision of the task that lies before them in serving her neighboring communities.

This renaissance of the spirit has been brought about by industrial progress. New union passenger and freight terminals are being built and improvements made in transportation at a cost of more than $10,000,000. Scores of new buildings have been, and are being, erected; outstanding among them the new 15 story house of the Standard of Cincinnati.

We have the largest principal airport in the country, and with three factories producing planes and engines, Cincinnati has taken a leading part in the aircraft industry. Aviation is a diversified, stable, and progressive.

Cincinnati's public utilities are serving efficiently and economically. Electricity in various quantities for domestic and industrial use is assured for years to come.

Her new city manager form of government has become the model toward which other cities are striving.

Cincinnati's people are cultured, home-loving, prosperous and forward-looking, with the will to serve. Cincinnati is the industrial center of the nation, her ambition the market center of the vast and prosperous Midwest and South. (Signed)

What the "OLD RELIABLE" means to the Cincinnati Territory

The L. & N. employs in the Cincinnati Territory 2,875 people and in addition participates in the payment of salaries of over 10,000 employees in ticket offices, depots, bridges, etc., during its yearly pay roll in the Cincinnati Zone in excess of $6,250,000.

Cincinnati is in the territory of two of the L. & N.'s most important lines, and one of its principal yards and accounting offices is located at DeCoursey and Latonia nearby. The L. & N. recently spent $300,000 in improvements at Latonia, Ky. Cincinnati is probably the largest soft coal center in the United States. A large part of the tonnage comes over the L. & N. rails from the Eastern Kentucky fields.

The L. & N. has been for more than a generation an active factor in the transportation of coal from the Cincinnati and adjacent territory and is constantly rendering prompt and dependable service through the operation of 54 of its freight and 24 of its passenger trains which arrive and depart daily.
